IRS 2024--Hangzhou, China

It is our great pleasure to propose and host the International Radiation Symposium (IRS) 2024 at Hangzhou, China. The proposed time of this conference will be from June 1 to June 6, 2024.

The last international radiation conference organized by WMO, IAMAP, and CCMAP was held in Beijing from August 26 to 30, 1986, chaired by Professors K. N. Liou and Xiuji Zhou. 112 participants from many countries attended the conference. Since 1986, both China and the atmospheric radiation science research community have been modernized. Some projects associated with remote satellite sensing and ground-based observation networks have been launched. About 12 Chinese universities/research institutes now have the discipline of atmospheric radiation and remote sensing as part of their curriculums. We feel that it is the right time for us to propose and host the IRS, expecting to promote more international communication and possible collaborations.

As the local host, Zhejiang University (a Tier-1 University in China) will organize the IRS 2024 with a local organizing committee composed of previous and current IRC commissioners and active Chinese research scientists in the atmospheric radiation field.

May 30th, 2022

Dear International Radiation Commission,

As the associate dean of the School of Earth Sciences, Zhejiang University, I am writing to fully support the bid of the 2024 International Radiation Symposium to be held in Hangzhou, China.

The School of Earth Sciences at Zhejiang University, located in the city of Hangzhou, was founded in 1936 by the prominent Chinese meteorologist, Chu Kochen, who was then the president of Zhejiang University. After more than 80 years of development, Earth sciences at Zhejiang University have evolved into Earth system sciences that focus on the frontier research linking atmospheric sciences, ocean sciences, geology, and geophysics. There is no doubt that radiation is a key element of the Earth energy cycle that drives the Earth system as a whole.

As an international conference of broad impact on the Earth sciences, the International Radiation Symposium (IRS), if held in Hangzhou, the so called 'City of Heaven', will easily attract participants from all over the world. Hangzhou will be a great venue for the participants of IRS 2024, to share and discuss cutting-edge Earth sciences research, particularly for atmospheric radiation, remote sensing, and the broad issue of global climate change. On behalf of the School of Earth Sciences, I fully support the proposal to host IRS 2024 in Hangzhou.

I hope the bid is successful. I very much look forward to welcoming all IRC participants at Hangzhou in 2024.

Yours sincerely,

Prof. Long Cao
Associate Dean of School of Earth Sciences

INTRODUCTION

Hangzhou

Hangzhou is a modern megacity with thousands of years of history and culture, in which natural landscape and human civilization are perfectly and harmoniously combined. Three World Cultural Heritages are located at Hangzhou: the West Lake, the Beijing-Hangzhou Grand Canal, and the Liangzhu ancient city relics.

Located on the southeast coast of China, lower reaches of Qiantang River and the south end of the Beijing-Hangzhou Grand Canal, Hangzhou is of subtropical monsoon climate with mild and humid weather and distinctive four seasons. The average temperature during June is about 21-29 °C with average precipitation of 211 mm.

Hangzhou is the National Ecology Garden City and the International Awards For Liveable Communities with 66.85% forest coverage and 51.36% wetland protection rate.

INTRODUCTION

Hangzhou

As one of the eight ancient capitals in China, Hangzhou used to be the national capital of the Wuyue State(A.D. 907-978) and the Southern Song Dynasty(A.D. 1127-1279), and now it is the provincial capital of Zhejiang.

For its favourable/advantageous geographical location, mild climate, long history and abundant cultural heritages, Hangzhou has achieved renown of “a fertile land of fish and rice”, “a land of cultural relics”, “the home of silk”, and “paradise on earth” in China, attracting a large quantity of tourists from home and abroad every year with its unique charm. It was voted by The New York Times as one of 52 most desirable places to go in 2016.

INTRODUCTION

Hangzhou

杭州

Hangzhou is one of the important central cities of the Yangtze River Delta, the economic, cultural, scientific and educational center of Zhejiang Province, and transportation hubs in the southeast coastal areas. Benefited from the most friendly business environment and rapidly developing information technology, private economy and digital industry are booming in Hangzhou, such as sharing economy, mobile payment, the Internet of Things(IoT), etc. --so called Smart City.

Some international events were held in Hangzhou, for instance, the 11th G20 Hangzhou Summit in 2016 and the 14th World Short Course Swimming Championships in 2018, and the 19th Asian Games in 2022 is forthcoming.

INTRODUCTION

Transportation to Hangzhou (direct route)

Hangzhou International Airport (IATA: HGH, ICAO: ZSHC), located in Xiaoshan District--the east of Hangzhou City, 27 kilometers from the downtown area, has 128 domestic routes and 62 international and regional routes by the end of 2019. It is the first air portal in Zhejiang, an important trunk-line airport, international scheduled flight airport, first-class airport open to the outside world and an alternate airport for international flights. It is a complex encompassing services of aviation, catering, shopping, recreation and accommodation.

In 2016, Hangzhou G20 Summit was held in Hangzhou. HGH successfully handled all the special flights, establishing an excellent worldwide image and making important contributions to the summit.

Zhejiang University(ZJU)

Located in Hangzhou, as one of China's top higher education institutions, Zhejiang University (ZJU) is a picturesque and prestigious school with a history spanning more than 120 years. The ZJU forerunner, Qiushi Academy, founded in 1897, was one of pioneering academies of higher education in China.

ZJU is organized across 7 faculties and 37 schools. It is home to 4,191 full-time faculty members, including 52 members of the Chinese Academy of Sciences and the Chinese Academy of Engineering. ZJU has 60,739 full-time students, over 56% of whom are postgraduate students.

Laying claim to several areas of research strength, ZJU currently ranks among the top three on Chinese mainland and within the top 100 in the Times Higher Education World Reputation Rankings and QS World University Rankings. Eighteen disciplines of ZJU have been selected for China's "Double First-class" Initiative (3rd in China) and 39 disciplines graded A in the recent national assessment (1st in China).

Atmospheric Sciences at ZJU

The School of Earth Sciences(SES) whose roots can be traced back to 1936, encompasses a broad range of Earth science disciplines: earth information science and technology, geographic information systems, resources environment and management of urban and rural planning, and atmospheric sciences. After more than 80 years of development, Earth Sciences in ZJU have grown into a highly interdisciplinary academic program. There are four research institutes: Geology, Geophysics, Geography and Spatial Information, and Weather, Climate and Meteorological Environment.

The Department of Atmospheric Sciences(DAS) has 14 faculty members. Current primary research areas include global climate change, Earth system modeling, extreme weather, cloud physics, and atmospheric radiation and remote sensing. The overall mission of this discipline is geared toward cutting-edge research with high domestic and international visibility and providing students with high-quality educational training and diverse research opportunities.

Enjoy in Hangzhou

Hangzhou is a famous scenic tourist city with deep historical and cultural foundation. Back in the 13th century, Marco Polo (an Italian traveler) praised Hangzhou as "the most beautiful and magnificent city in the world". You can enjoy splendid sceneries and cultural heritages of old-line water towns in south of Yangzi River.

West Lake

-- "the Famous Lake of Oriental Culture"

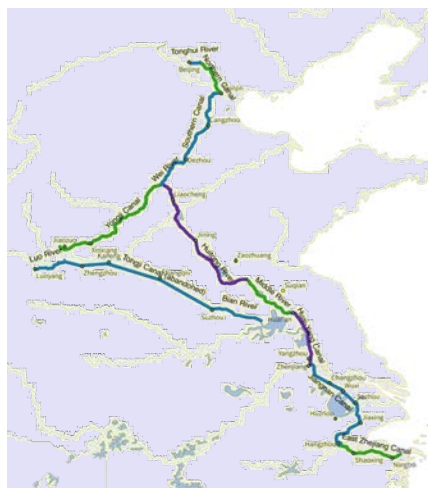

It is an outstanding model of cultural landscape, which clearly showed the aesthetics of Chinese landscape and had a far-reaching impact on landscape design in China and even the world. It is a famous cultural lake with the longest history and the greatest influence in China, which once had a wide impact on the East Asian culture from 9th to 18th century.

the Beijing-Hangzhou Grand Canal

-- "the second Prime Channel(only following Yangtze River) in China"

It is the earliest(built from 486 B.C.) and the longest (1797km) man made canal in the world. The Hangzhou section of the canal has abundant historical sites and unique cultural heritages.
